

Book Title: Maisy Goes to the Museum

Author: Lucy Cousins

Publisher: Walker Books Limited

Story content:

This is a delightful and interesting story about Maisy's experience to a museum on a rainy day with her friends. They started their journey by first visiting the dinosaur and fossilised egg. Charley went to the transport section to play with the vintage car and double-decker bus. Maisy then went to see the satellite and the rocket, imaging herself as an astronaut flying to the moon. Everyone enjoyed the old toys, especially the doll's house.

In the natural history section, Maisy and Charlet marvelled at the brightly coloured birds. Tallulah inspected the insects and Cyril made friends with the tiger.

Maisy and her friends found that there is so much to see and play in the museum. They even dressed up as different characters like an Egyptian or a knight. Before they left, they had a refreshing snack at the museum café to end their visit.

"There is always something new to see at the museum" – the final comment from Maisy.

I recommend this book because...

It gives an idea to children as to how interesting and fun it can be to visit a museum. In Hong Kong, there are different types of museums, including the Science Museum and the Space Museum, which my son enjoys visiting a lot. Children can gain knowledge which they may not learn at school from the museums.

Furthermore, the book is colourful with different animals as the characters, which is attractive to children. The short sentences are also easy for children to follow and read on their own.
